Mullin House of Richardson expands legal team, welcomes new partner

BY PEGASUS NEWS WIRE

RICHARDSON — Cheryl Mullin & Associates, a law firm in Richardson since 2003, named a new law partner, changed its name, and expanded its legal team. The firm, now formed as Mullin House PC, named Dyan House as partner, and hired three more employees since June.

"Our growth and additions reflect the firm's historical focus and strength in serving the legal needs of franchisors and franchisees," said Cheryl Mullin, president and founder of the firm. "This year, we've significantly grown our franchise client base, and have expanded our practice areas to meet our clients' needs."

Some of the expanded services being offered by Mullin House include legal expertise in business litigation, estate planning, shareholder agreements, intellectual property, and more.

The name change now reflects the strengths and significance of the firm's two partners-Cheryl Mullin, president and founder; and Dyan House, a business attorney that has worked with Mullin since 2004. House was named partner in June.

"Dyan is an excellent attorney who knows how to dig for the deepest details and find reasonable solutions for clients," "Her greatest strength, however, is the client connection-she has a professional, natural way of engaging clients so they understand the situation, the status and the smartest way to move forward."
